SOLDIERS' SUNDAY

Sunday next is to be Soldiers' Day at McGill and the Y.M.C.A. have arranged for a service to be held in Strathcona Hall at 3 p.m. Dr. John MacNaughton, the genial professor of Classics will speak on some military topic. All men who are in any way interested, and those who are in no way interested, are urged to come and hear our popular professor.

RETIREMENT OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE

Chief Justice Sir Charles Peers Davidson will retire within a short time at any rate before the end of this month. Sir Charles, some time ago placed his resignation in the hands of the Ottawa Cabinet, but it is understood agreed to remain in his position until his successor was appointed and the legal work he had in hand was completed. There is no doubt, however, that by Feb. 1, Sir Charles Peers Davidson will have vacated the position. Who will be his successor is not yet known. Should a local judge be appointed, it would find favor with Bench and Bar, though should a Quebec judge be appointed, he would have a hearty welcome.

MR. P. MATHIEU ADDRESSES THE FRENCH CLUB

Former Member of Club, he Emphasises its Importance in Aiding the Students to Speak

EX-PRES. DU ROURE TAKEN PRISONER

Mr. Mathieu Tells Members of Sad Plight of Popular French Professor

A most successful and enjoyable meeting of the McGill Cercle Français took place last evening in the dining room of the Union. There were about 20 members present and the well-cooked dinner, provided by the Union Caterer, seemed to be much appreciated. As usual, everyone spoke French during the meal and some thought that quite an appreciable improvement could be noticed in the fluency with which the newer members employed the vivacious language of our noble allies.

At the conclusion of the meal, the minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted, then the president introduced the speaker of the evening, in the person of M. Papineau Mathieu, M. Mathieu, a well-known lawyer of this city, is a graduate of McGill and was actively connected with the Cercle Français during his student days. In an interview which he graciously granted to the Daily representative, he remarked upon the vast improvement which the Cercle Français had undergone, both as regards membership and environment, since his connection with it. "In my day," he said, "the membership of the club never got far above the number ten, and we were glad to take our refreshments in the basement of the Y.M.C.A. building, which was by no means the palatial structure which it is to-day."

It will be seen that M. Mathieu was well fitted to address the club and which he had once been a member and his speech quite justified all expectations.

He commenced by referring to the late honorary president of the club, Mr. R. Du Roure, who returned to France at the outbreak of war to take his place in the French army, and who has since been seriously wounded and is now a prisoner in Berlin. This news came as rather a shock to the members for although they knew he had been wounded, they had not previously heard that he was also a prisoner.

R.V.C. Undergrad. Society Held a Meeting Yesterday

Sports Day Cancelled and Proceeds of Gym Demonstration to be Given to Charity

A meeting of the R. V. C. Undergraduate Society was held on Tuesday, with the president, Miss Zoe B. Smith, in the chair.

The first business was the question of deciding whether hockey should be cancelled and the proceeds of the year trophy, it was decided that hockey should count a point.

The president of the athletic society, Miss Macdonald, moved that sports day be cancelled this year, and that a gym demonstration, the proceeds of which should be devoted to a charitable object, be substituted. This motion was passed unanimously.

The meeting then adjourned.

Of interest to Freshmen—at a recent meeting of the Princeton Senior Council it was decided that Freshmen should not be permitted to wear macinaws, but may, however, wear togues during the month of December, January and February. Freshmen at the University of Montreal held a meeting recently at which they knitted socks for Canadian soldiers. There is a Freshman at the University of Minnesota named Iona Lozier.

Dr. Peterson Issues Denial

"There is nothing in it, except that the Faculty of Medicine will shorten its year in order that the men of that faculty may complete their course before leaving with the General Bae Hospital." This was the statement made by Principal Peterson last night, when asked to either confirm or deny a rumor which has been going the rounds of the university for some time to the effect that college would close early to permit the McGill Overseas men to go to the front in April or May.

Fifth Lecture by Prof. Grieve is Interesting

Gives Address on "The Preacher as Shepherd or Pastor"

CHRIST SHOULD BE PREACHED IN ALL SERMONS

Believes That Pastoral Side of Preacher is Most Fruitful Part of Work

Rev. Prof. Grieve delivered a splendid lecture yesterday at the Congregational College, on the Preacher as Shepherd or Pastor.

In his introduction, he made a plea for audibility and clearness in the pulpit. So many preachers today have a habit of dropping their voices at the end of a sentence and nothing is more provoking and irritating to an audience than to be unable to hear all a speaker says.

Prof. Grieve then mentioned a few things which he believed essential to the sermon. There should be something of the didactic. No one should be afraid of using a new fact, a new truth, or an old truth presented in a new light. Then, too, every sermon should have some appeal to the heart as well as to the intellect, something comforting as well as expository. Finally, in all sermons, Christ should be preached. Even if he is not directly mentioned in a sermon, it should throbb with the spirit of Christ.

Prof. Grieve then spoke more directly on the subject of the lecture, "The Preacher or Pastor." He showed how the pastoral side of a preacher's life had been connected with the minister right through the history of the church and he believed it to be the most fruitful part of his work. A pastor's life should be a life of prayer and a life of service. A pastor should be a man of prayer and a man of service. A pastor should be a man of prayer and a man of service.

He then spoke of the functions of the pastor, how they had differed at different times of history and how they differ to-day in different places. He pointed out how in such times as with Calvin at Geneva, the pastor had even regulated domestic life and etiquette. To-day, where the other extreme was found, where scarcely any pastoral work was done, indeed, much ridicule had been heaped of late years on house to house visitation. But Prof. Grieve concluded by pointing out the importance of visitation, not only of the sick and troubled, but also of the whole church, men as well as women.

Prof. Grieve delivered his final lecture of the course to-day at four p.m., and if interest shown yesterday was an indication, there will be a crowded hall.

THE PHILOSOPHERS ARE ADDRESS.D ON CRIME DETECTION

Mr. C. N. Clark Reads Exceedingly Interesting Paper to Philosophical Team

The Philosophical Club held a very successful meeting in Strathcona Hall last evening, the feature of which was the reading of an instructive and well-composed paper on the "Psychological Method of Crime Detection," by Mr. C. N. Clark, secretary of the club.

The president, Mr. B. A. Schwartz, occupied the chair, and among those present were Messrs. Peterson, Clark and Hickson, as well as other members of the society.

The speaker of the evening commenced his discussion with the statement that the judges, who up to the present time have a psychology of their own in "sizing-up" criminals, will sooner or later have to adopt a scientific method for the detection of crime.

This scientific method is based upon the hypothesis that the sensation received during life leaves a permanent impression on the nervous system, and it is the function of experimental psychology to examine these impressions.

Several methods were suggested, among which were the hypnosis, automatic writing and the association methods, etc.

EXPLANATION OF RECOMMENDATION BY THE COUNCIL

Students' Council Cleared Up Misunderstanding of Arts' Undergraduates

RUGBY REPORT SATISFACTORY

Suggest That Undergraduate Societies' Executives Allow Representative to Attend Their Meetings

The regular weekly meeting of the Students' Council was held last night, business of a general nature being dealt with.

After several small items had been disposed of, the attention of the Council was brought to an article in yesterday's Daily, reporting a meeting of the Arts Undergraduate Society.

It was the opinion of the Council that there had been a misunderstanding on the part of the Arts Undergraduate Society.

In regard to Council's recommendation that the representatives of the different faculties should be members of the executives of their respective undergraduate societies.

It was moved that, "In virtue of an article which appeared in a recent issue of the Daily, the Council shall make a statement in the Daily setting forth their attitude regarding the representation of the Council member on his own undergraduate society."

The Council recommended that he be a member of the executive of the Undergraduates Society by reason of his position as representative of his faculty on the Council, but that he be without a vote.

"The reason of this Council for making this recommendation is that the faculty representatives may have a full working knowledge of the activities in their respective faculties, thus helping in the co-ordination of the Students' Council with all student activities."

R.V.C. French Play Will be Staged on Saturday, Jan. 23rd

The Title is "The Comedy of the Man Who Married a Dumb Wife"

Posters will soon appear in the buildings of the university to remind the students of the date of the French play that is to be put on by La Société Française. The French Society has been working hard with the production of this drama which is entitled "The Comedy of the Man Who Married a Dumb Wife." It was written by Anatole France. It is to be presented in thoroughgoing 16th century style, with the picturesque music and dances of this period. It is a very witty, wise and merry farce, and all will enjoy it. The price of the tickets is 50 cents, and all the proceeds will be devoted to the relief of the sufferers in France through the committee of France-Amérique. This fund is looking after all those whose homes have been devastated in the war area. All students who can understand French should attend one of the performances. The first one will be at 8 p.m., and the second at 8.30 p.m., on January 23rd. The tickets are now on sale at the R. V. C. and may be obtained from Ruth Dawson, the secretary of the French Society, or from Elliot Scott, the president of the Cercle Français. It is expected that the tickets will soon be on sale in the Union and in Strathcona Hall, and the Conservatorium of Music.

Y.W.C.A. HOLDS ITS FIRST MEETING IN COMMON ROOM

Mr. Calhoun, of Central Y.M.C.A., Gave Address on "Sacrificial Life"

The first regular meeting of the McGill Y.W.C.A. was held in the R.V.C. Common Room yesterday at 3 p.m.

The speaker was Mr. Calhoun, of the Central Y.M.C.A. The key-note of his most interesting address was the Sacrificial Life. His message was both inspiring and practical and all present felt the importance and beauty of a life of service such as he described.

Miss Story moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Calhoun and the meeting closed with prayer and the singing of the National Anthem.

REPRESENTATIVES OF ARTS ELECTED

Through error, mention was omitted in the report of the Arts Undergraduate Society published yesterday, of the election of L. H. Ballantyne, '15, as representative from Arts to the Medical dinner, and W. C. Ross, '16, to the Science dinner.

HARVARD'S GAIN IS REPORTED IN NEW CATALOGUE

Total Number of Students Is 5,699, and of Instructors, 859

Harvard catalogue for 1914-15, which has just come from the press, is probably the largest yet issued by the university. This is due in part to the gain in number of students of 232 and also to the increase in the facilities which the institution offers.

The agreement for affiliation with Massachusetts Institute of Technology certain branches contributed to the growth of the university.

References are made in the catalogue to the freshman halls and the new Widener library, which will probably be ready for occupancy during the course of the year. The new requirements for admission of foreign students enabling them to substitute an examination in their own language for the entrance examination in English and other changes will remove what has been regarded as an unnecessary handicap.

That these students have already come to Harvard in large number is shown in the geographical summary where a total of 1,499 is recorded. China has a representation of 22, England 12, Japan 10, Germany 5, Turkey 5, France, Greece, India, Australia, South Africa, Bulgaria, Switzerland, and Syria each two or more students.

The total number of students is 5,699 and the total number of instructors 859.

DR. HERRIDGE WILL SPEAK TO-NIGHT IN THE MORRICE HALL

Well-known Divine Is Moderator of Presbyterian Church and Is Fine Speaker

There was an error in yesterday's "Daily" in the statement that Dr. Herridge would speak in the David Morrice Hall yesterday evening.

Instead, the meeting will take place to-night at 7.30. Dr. Herridge graduated in Arts from Toronto University. From there he came up to Montreal and enrolled in the Montreal Presbyterian College. He was always a very distinguished student and graduated in 1883 with a B.D. and the gold medal. In 1899 his Alma Mater here conferred the honorary degree of D. D. on him. His studies have been very exhaustive and have taken him to Edinburgh, Glasgow and London Universities. He is a very profound student and has gained an international and enviable reputation as a preacher. At present he is the pastor of St. Andrew's church, Ottawa, and is the moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. The subject of Rev. Dr. Herridge's address can not as yet be learned, but will, in all probability, be a very timely one and one which will interest students of all faculties and denominations.

Students and the Theatre

When the writer of the inevitable editorial turns to the subject of drama, he is no doubt expected to produce a homily, ex officio, upon the educational value of "good shows." He is at once met by the argument that the enduring reader may be spared, if only once, because Montreal has this winter been remarkably free from the type of performance in question. The equally patient hack at once replies, however, that the present theatrical situation is due to temporary causes, while the taste of the student would be no better in time of peace.

The "tired-business-man" fallacy has a good hold on the Universities. The student, after a few days or possibly a week spent, presumably, in the search for what melodramatic Munsterberg calls "the Eternal Values," visits—a vaudeville performance. Now if a man is finding his blood beginning to chill from the proverbial "much study," by all means let him go to a roaring burlesque show, which its warmest admirer would hardly credit with making any claim upon the spectator's powers of attention or intellect. But if you seek not amusement only, which it is to be hoped is seldom your sole aim in attending the theatre, then go to see something really worth while; not a hybrid combination of the spectacular with the enunciation of some pseudo-philosophy of life, intended to arrest the aforesaid "tired-business-man's" attention, and flatter him with the idea that he is becoming a keen critic of human nature and the dramatic art. If a theatrical performance brings home to you your ignorance of some branch of literature, if it presents to your view a wider field of human sympathy or a new phase of character study, if it opens to you untravelled lines of thought or impels you to a more definite course of action—then you may conclude that you have advanced a stage, and that your evening has not been mis-spent.

McGill Twenty-Four Months Ago

From the McGill Daily of January 14, 1913

Yesterday's practice of the Senior hockey team was not all that could be desired. The date of the first game is drawing near and it is extremely necessary that the men should be in the very best of condition for the opening game. Queen's are by no means weak if anything is to be believed that is rumoured about the Kingston aggression.

McGill is fortunate in having two such efficient goal-keepers as Montgomery and Mann. Both these men played a good consistent game while on the holiday tour. Mann played last year on the Intermediate team and only the extraordinary work of Warwick prevented him from making the first team. Montgomery played for St. Andrew's College, Toronto, last year and came to McGill with a splendid reputation.

About seventy-five enthusiastic representatives from the different faculties gathered for supper last night at Strathcona Hall with the purpose of inaugurating the campaign for Bible and Mission Study, which is going to be carried on this week. Among the speakers were Mr. Russell Paterson, a well-known McGill man, and Mr. H. D. Robertson, student, Y.M.C.A. Secretary for Canada. Mission study at McGill will mean the giving of lives to the furthering of the great missionary enterprise.

McGill Thirty-Six Months Ago

From the McGill Daily of January 12, 1912

What is the recognized function of the McGill Daily? Is it to appear each day with a number of articles of literary or scientific interest? Is it to report in full the lectures of the various professors for the edification of casual visitors to the University? No! Emphatically no! We are here as the official undergraduate newspaper, to chronicle from day to day the news of various undergraduate activities. This is our main function and any other would be absurd and useless. Granted then that as a newspaper we are here to chronicle events and happenings of the undergraduate body and it is small wonder that after listening all day to instructive lectures that the students desire to have the news of the various athletic activities about the college.

From a perfectly fair and unbiased standpoint, the first meeting of the Mock Parliament can be regarded in no other light than as a liberal triumph. From start to finish the Opposition scored all along the line. In the first place the Speech from the Throne was a fiasco. The Naval Question, on which this whole campaign hinges was side-stepped with a brazen coolness which compels admiration. Gentlemen, if you wish to spend an evening each week in hearty laughter at the demerits of your opponents, join the Liberal party; if on the other hand, you wish to spend an evening of deep and besetting gloom with despair at heart join the Conservatives.

"ENGLAND'S MENACE" AT THE STRAND.

The ruler of a foreign power is making plans to invade England. Of his advisers only the Chancellor protests against the outrageous scheme. His military and naval leaders are eager to obey his commands. One of the chief spies of this foreign power secures a place as butler in the house of Lord Talbot, secretary to the British Prime Minister. He uses his opportunities to copy important papers which Lord Talbot has charge of, papers which refer to the movements of British ships and soldiers. Lord Talbot's two children have an amateur wireless outfit, which the spy uses to receive messages from his government. He burns a sheet of paper on which he has decoded a message. The children find the burned fragment, which has remained intact, and though they make nothing of the message (the ink of which is still visible on the burned paper) they copy it off together with the numbers which represent the letters. The date fixed for the invasion arrives. The spy puts off his butler's livery and leaves Lord Talbot's house, going for the last time to the wireless outfit to receive his final message from his government, but the two children are already in the little wireless house. Moreover, they have taken down the code message and by use of the key which they made from the charred paper, have succeeded in translating it. Just as they realize the significance of the message that the foreign fleet is on the way toward the English coast, the spy enters the wireless house. Though the spy tries to baulk them, the children get away on their motor cycle, and carry the portentous news to their father and the Prime Minister at Downing Street. The British Government acts at once, orders are issued at swift decision. The fleet gets up steam; the troops begin to march. By a clever use of the enemy's code, the Prime Minister sends out a wireless message which turns back the enemy's ships and transports. The danger is passed. The British Government breathe a sigh of relief, and the English people go peacefully about their daily business without realizing how narrowly a dangerous menace has been averted.

"You don't care much for music?" "I consider it of great value," replied Senator Sorghum. "Music enables a man to use his voice all he wants without risk of being drawn into a political argument."—Washington Star.

Alleghany College Will Picture Its History and Purpose in Pageant Drama

College Started in 1815 and to Celebrate its Centenary this Year
Has Arranged List of Elaborate Ceremonies to Mark the Event—History One of Steady Growth

In celebrating its first centenary, Alleghany College of Meadville, Pa., has planned a list of ceremonies to take place in June which will include a pageant and an educational conference that is to bring together ambassadors, college presidents, and prominent educators from all parts of the country.

Since its founding in 1815 Alleghany College has preserved a bond of sympathy with the New England States which is due to a large extent to its founder, Timothy Alden, and to several New England families who have given ardent support. Among the latter are the Winthrop and the Bentleys. Many Alleghany graduates have entered the graduate schools of New England universities, and in particular, Harvard University has been supplied with a number of most successful students.

STARTED BY HARVARD MAN.

Timothy Alden, who had been a minister in Portsmouth, and several other New England towns, was a Harvard graduate and a relative of the famous John Alden. He first became interested in the region around what is now Meadville through the Holland Land Company. The community then was small, but Alden felt there was urgent need in the neighborhood for an institution of higher learning.

There was no separate building for the new college at the start, so Alden was obliged to teach his scholars in his own house until aid was forthcoming from the Rev. Mr. Bentley of Salem. In 1830 the establishment passed into the hands of the Erie Conference of Methodists and became a Methodist College.

Alleghany's whole history has been one of steady growth in the face of what were at first heavy financial odds. Through the persistent efforts of President Crawford, who has held his position for the last twenty years, the property and enrolment of the college have increased by leaps and bounds. In the early seventies a change to co-education was made. The total membership is now about four hundred.

MISSIONARIES GRADUATED.
Grounds and buildings that are noted for their beauty overlook the town of Meadville from an elevation. From almost nothing, a college has grown up which is now reputed as one of the best of its size in the country. A list of distinguished graduates prove its success.

As a pageant master and drama authority Professor Baker is well known. He is the founder of the "47 Work Shop," at which two plays are tried out at Harvard and Radcliffe. He has done much work in pageants, notable examples of which are the Peterboro, N.H., pageant several years ago and the Hollis pageant a year ago last spring.

PAGEANT UNDER WAY.

Last month the committee in charge met in New York to make arrangements. Sub-committees were appointed to look after the details, and consultation was held with Professor Baker, with whom the chairman, Paul Sturtevant of Pittsburg, will co-operate.

It is intended to stage the pageant in Bentley Hall three times, on June 21, 22 and 24. This is the first hall erected at the college. Some idea of the size of the performance can be gained when one considers that every one of the 400 students will take part. Seating accommodations for 3,000 are to be built.

What story is to be enacted is not to be made public until the day of the pageant. All information, including that regarding the scenery and costumes, is to be withheld until then. Professor Baker is now at work on the book. It is his desire to keep this a secret, even after the rehearsals begin, if possible.

Probably the only student to be a member of the cast is Provost Renier. Professor Baker's assistant, who won praise at the chorals in the Hollis pageant two years ago.

In charge of the other important event on the programme, the educational conference, is President Crawford. Invitations to attend have been sent to President Wilson and to President Lowell of Harvard.

Princeton Senior Council Adopts a New System For Choice of Members of Body

Methods of Election Are Changed and Number of Members Is Cut From 23 to 18—Blackball System of Voting in Council Itself Dropped

Changes in the method of election to the Princeton Senior Council have been completed by the 1915 Council and will become operative in the election of members to the 1916 body. The purpose of the revision was to secure a wider representation from the Senior Class and to reduce the actual membership of the body. The latter change will tend toward greater efficiency, it is believed.

According to the plans which will govern the choice of Council members from 1916, eleven of the eighteen men who will comprise the Council will be named next June by the 1915 Council. Five of the remainder will be selected by the Council at its organization next fall and two will be chosen by the Senior Class at a general election. Heretofore, the class has had no voice determining the composition of the body.

among the Indians. Of the women graduates, Miss Ida Tarbell, writer, perhaps, stands foremost. The graduate choice of a pageant, ruled in to use the clearest and most striking way to set the history and work of the college before the public. Professor Baker, of dramatic literature at Harvard and master of pageants, was commissioned to write the book.

As a pageant master and drama authority Professor Baker is well known. He is the founder of the "47 Work Shop," at which two plays are tried out at Harvard and Radcliffe. He has done much work in pageants, notable examples of which are the Peterboro, N.H., pageant several years ago and the Hollis pageant a year ago last spring.

Under the present constitution, twenty-two men may be named on the Council. This number has been reduced to eighteen in order to secure a more effective unit. Another important change has to do with the method of voting in balloting for members. Under the present regulations, the Council has used the blackball system, a given number of black balls excluding a man from membership.

In the choice of next year's Council the preferential ballot, which is used in all other elections, will govern and a simple majority will elect.

The changes in the method of election follow:

COMPOSITION OF COUNCIL.
(a) The Senior Council shall consist of eighteen members to be elected from the Senior Class of the University.
(b) Wherever one or more members are to be elected from any number of nominations, that method of counting ballots unless otherwise designated shall apply, which is now in use in the election of Senior Class officers.
(c) Nine members shall be elected by the preceding Senior Council at a meeting or meetings to be held in the spring of the Council's Senior year. These nine members shall be elected from the following list of fourteen ex-officio nominations. The choice of the three nominees from place number (12) below shall be made by the previous council prior to the election from the office holders designated in that place.

METHOD OF ELECTION.
The following method of election shall prevail: Vote in the order of choice for as many men as there are nominations. The candidate receiving an absolute majority shall be considered elected. Omit his name on the next ballot. Repeat the process for the remaining candidates until the required number is chosen.

1. Captain of the basketball team.
2. This officer holder shall be discussed prior to the election and his list, if he is not elected he shall thereafter be considered in the same category with the office holders in group one not already on the Council.
3. These office holders in group one not already on the Council.
Note—The office holders enumerated below—numbers 3-10 shall constitute group two as hereinafter spoken of.

1. Business manager of the Daily Princetonian.
2. Captain of the Triangle Club.
3. Captain of the basketball team.
4. Captain of the hockey team.
5. Manager of crew.
6. Chairman of the Debating Committee.
7. Chairman of the Dining Halls Committee.
8. Chairman of the Brie-a-Brac.
9. President of the Triangle Club.
10. President of the Philadelphian Society.
11. President of the Glee Club.
12. Managing editor of the Nassau Literary Magazine, Editorial Chairman of the Daily Princetonian, Editor-in-chief of the Princeton Pictorial Review, or Managing Editor of the Tiger.

Note—All office holders on the list shall be nominated. To nominate these three, vote for three out of the four specified. The three candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall be considered nominated.

Note—All office holders on the list shall constitute group one—as hereinafter spoken of.
(d) The nine men thus elected and constituting the new Senior Council shall meet on the close of their first year and elect a temporary chairman and temporary secretary. At the same meeting they shall elect one man to membership in the council.

In the balloting, men shall vote for the candidates in the order of their choice. In the counting of the votes, the one who receives the absolute majority shall be elected. The name of the man elected shall then be crossed off of the ballots, and the numbers on the ballots shall be advanced so as to fill the place left vacant by the winner. The vote shall be counted again and the man who receives the absolute majority on this count shall be declared elected.

At a later meeting the Council shall elect one member to the Senior Class, a large number of the members of the Senior Class not already on the Council.

The 100 Years Peace Celebrated in Springfield, Ill.

Bronze Memorial to Illinois Soldiers of War of 1812 Erected

The one hundred years' peace between the United States and Great Britain is being commemorated in Illinois by the installation of a bronze memorial to the Illinois soldiers of the war of 1812 in Memorial Hall at the State House at Springfield. The tablet is the work of Miss Nellie C. Walker, a sculptor of this city. It is of bronze, six feet in height and four feet broad, showing in high relief an Illinois ranger of 1812 before a block of stone inscribed with the names of the United States Soldiers of 1812, and accompanying it is the inscription: "In memory of the patriotic and heroic pioneer service of Illinois soldiers in the war of 1812, erected by the State of Illinois at the request of the United States Daughters of 1812, and dedicated upon the close of one hundred years of peace between Great Britain and the United States, Dec. 24, 1914."

"They stood between their loved ones and the war's desolation." The cost of the tablet, $1,200, was defrayed by State appropriation. It will be accepted for the State by Governor Dunne, President Edmund J. James, of the University of Illinois will deliver an address.

Miss Walker does her work at the Midway Studios of Lorado Taft. The best known of her products is the group at the Art Institute, "Her Son." Among her other works are the James S. Watson memorial in Chicago, the Decker memorial at Battle Creek, the Diggins' memorial at Cadillac, Mich., and the monument to Chief Keokuk at Keokuk, Ia. Miss Walker is now at work on a colossal fountain to represent the triumphant rise of Chicago after the fire of 1871.—C. S. Monitor.

MR. P. MATHIEU ADDRESSES THE FRENCH CLUB.

M. Mathieu then went on to say that he appreciated, and he felt sure that the members themselves appreciated, the importance of the French Club, in assisting the students to learn to speak French. He laid great stress on speaking French as distinguished from writing and reading it, for he said he knew that some of the persons who, although they could read and write French perfectly well, could not speak it because they had never had the courage to start. The French Club, he said, provided an informal atmosphere in which the students could speak French without fear of being ridiculed on account of their mistakes. Nevertheless, he continued, the effort should not be confined to these meetings, but one should be determined to speak French whenever occasion offered. This, he submitted, as the only infallible method of learning the language. He then referred to the unfortunate relations existing between French and English in this city, not that there was any unkindness between them, but simply that each class kept to itself had its own clubs and activities and thus precluded to a great extent the possibility of an interchange which alone could lead to each learning the language of the other.

This address was loudly applauded and after one or two matters of business had been attended to the meeting broke up.

The Faculty of Princeton University is in favor of the establishment of a student military organization, which would be entirely voluntary. The discussion of the advisability of such a plan was started by some of the undergraduates who brought it to the attention of the authorities.

In order to correct the idea that Michigan is a university where courting and roughness of all sorts is the customary thing, an organization of thirty of the prominent athletes of the university is behind a movement which proposes to cut out all dissipation after games, betting and smoking of cigarettes by athletes.

from those twenty-five men in their class holding the highest scholastic averages. The first five names of their college course. In case of this member a majority vote of the Council shall elect on the first ballot, which failing, those two candidates receiving the highest number of votes on the plan was started by some of the undergraduates who brought it to the attention of the authorities.

(e) The second meeting of the new Council shall be held within one week after the opening of college in that Council's Senior year. At this time the Council shall elect a three member group from the following list of office holders, each office holder on the list to be discussed prior to the nominations.

1. Captain of the basketball team.
2. This officer holder shall be discussed prior to the election and his list, if he is not elected he shall thereafter be considered in the same category with the office holders in group one not already on the Council.
3. These office holders in group one not already on the Council.
Note—The office holders enumerated below—numbers 3-10 shall constitute group two as hereinafter spoken of.

1. Business manager of the Daily Princetonian.
2. Captain of the Triangle Club.
3. Captain of the basketball team.
4. Captain of the hockey team.
5. Manager of crew.
6. Chairman of the Debating Committee.
7. Chairman of the Dining Halls Committee.
8. Chairman of the Brie-a-Brac.
9. President of the Triangle Club.
10. President of the Philadelphian Society.
11. President of the Glee Club.
12. Managing editor of the Nassau Literary Magazine, Editorial Chairman of the Daily Princetonian, Editor-in-chief of the Princeton Pictorial Review, or Managing Editor of the Tiger.

Note—All office holders on the list shall be nominated. To nominate these three, vote for three out of the four specified. The three candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall be considered nominated.

Note—All office holders on the list shall constitute group one—as hereinafter spoken of.
(d) The nine men thus elected and constituting the new Senior Council shall meet on the close of their first year and elect a temporary chairman and temporary secretary. At the same meeting they shall elect one man to membership in the council.

College Athletics

SENIOR HOCKEY SQUAD HAD A FAIRLY GOOD WORK OUT AT THE ARENA YESTERDAY

Offensive is Improving but Back-checking is Weak, and Condition and "Pep" is Still Lacking—Good Position is Well Provided For

About fifteen men in all were out last night at 5 p.m. for the regular hockey practice at the Arena. On the whole, the practice was successful. Coach Roberts had the men going strong from start to finish. To start off, Rimbeth, Marson, and Eric Parsons practised boxing in against Hall and Kendall, with Mann in goal. The others were doing likewise at the other end against Montgomery in goal and DeMuth and Morris in front of him. They kept this up for about a quarter of an hour.

At the end of this time, the men seemed to have settled down to work. Coach Roberts then lined two teams up. Mann, Kendall, Hall, Marson, Eric Parsons and Rimbeth played against Montgomery, Morris, DeMuth, Work, Ross and Andrews. The play was fast in fits and starts, at least whenever a man had the puck. The men seemed not to have enough life or inclination to check back. The back-checking is decidedly poor and has quite a lot to do with it. It has made such a poor showing so far in the city league fixtures.

As usual Mann played well in goal. Montgomery at the other end had very little to do, but handled everything in good style. Kendall is very strong on the defensive. He rushes well but allows himself to be edged off into the corner away from the nets. Hall is showing up better every practice. He, however, is rather slow in getting started. Morris is somewhat under the weather, as he is suffering from a bad attack of quinsy. DeMuth showed up in excellent form. He carried the puck well and kept his eyes open for combination plays with his team mates. However, like the rest of the defence, he is a little slow in getting back when he has once carried the puck up the ice.

COLUMBIA TRACK TEAM ARE ELATED OVER PROGRAMME

Heavy Season's Work Ahead of "Blue and White" Runners

Columbia University track and field athletes are to-day much pleased over the schedule which has been arranged for this season, as announced Saturday by Manager Birch Clark. The usual meet with Syracuse University has been abandoned, and in its place the Blue and White athletes have added Brown and Wesleyan. Columbia will again meet Annapolis academy at Annapolis, the date having been arranged to fit in with the usual crew race between the two colleges. Columbia relay teams will be entered in the University of Pennsylvania relays, which will be held on April 23 and 24, at Franklin field. The first of the dual meet will be held May 1, on South field, when the Morningside Heights men will line up against the Wesleyan aggregation. The second meet will be held on May 8, with Brown University at Providence. The final dual meet is that with the naval academy, May 15, at Annapolis. These meets are in addition to the intercollegiate championships which will be held on May 25 and 26.

Columbia's track team had an unusually successful season last year, winning from Syracuse and in all of the other dual meets. The next gymnasium meet will be held on May 15, at Annapolis, the intercollegiate championship, and F. MacDonald, the star quarter-mile.

THE GYM. CLASSES WELL ATTENDED

Wickstead Competition Arrangements Will Soon Be Made

Last night saw a most successful turn-out at the gymnasium classes, forty-five men turning out. The enthusiasm for this branch of athletics is high and the greatest interest is taken in the work done in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium.

Various forms of exercise are given, free-hand work, some apparatus stunts, and always up to date as our instructor is, some preliminary steps in a new dance.

Another important feature of the season is the annual competition for the Wickstead Medal. Next week there will be held a special meeting with regard to this matter, of the Wickstead Competition, and the names for this will be received, a programme drawn up, and special hours will be arranged for those entering.

Last year there was a record entry owing chiefly to the inauguration of these competitions, and this year Mr. Lamb would like to see the record broken again.

The matter of the indoor meet is being followed up, but no particulars are yet forthcoming. The next gymnasium meet will be held Saturday at 5:15 p.m.

NOVEL RELAYS AT PENN. GAMES

Two innovations have been added to the list of events on the programme of the University of Pennsylvania. They are in the form of relay races in the first one, the man who runs first will cover a quarter of a mile, the second man a half-mile, the third three-quarters of a mile, and the last a mile, while in the other race the first two men will run a furlong, each the third a quarter-mile and the fourth a half-mile. These events have been added in order to give the smaller colleges, which are frequently without good quarter milers a chance to use the best track talent that they possess.

E. Parsons, Marson, Rimbeth and Andrews were the pick of the forwards. However, there is plenty of room for improvement in their play. Their passing is a little weak and the shooting is decidedly so. When one shoots no one is on the nets to follow up any advantage that may be offered. There is still plenty of room for improvement in the combination of the team. The men on the wings do not play their position quite enough. Keich has the making of a good man. He is fast, when he wants to be. He is a good stick-handler and has quite a good shot. If he would get some life into his play he would help the team immensely. It is to be hoped he will get the necessary pep, Ross and Work are both hard workers, but not very fast.

Scott replaced Mann near the end and Kelly also came on the ice. Scott is a good understanding to the two regular goal tenders. Kelly was not on very long, but showed up well while he was playing.

The men out were, Montgomery, Mann, DeMuth, Morris, Kendall, Hall, Marson, Keich, Rimbeth, E. Parsons, Work, Ross and Andrews, F. Parsons, Kelly and Scott.

Dr. Harvey will be at the Union at 5:45 this afternoon to examine those who intend to take part in class hockey games.

YALE PREPARES TO START HER WINTER FOOTBALL DRILLS

Coach Hinkley Talked to Prospective Members of Next Fall's Team

That Yale University is set on an early start in developing a varsity football team for next fall is evident, to-day following an announcement made by Capt. A. D. Wilson '16, that the squad will be ordered to begin indoor drill within the next two weeks.

This decision was arrived at Saturday, when the prospective candidates held a meeting at which Captain Wilson and Head Coach F. A. Hinkley gave short talks on the plans which have been made. At this meeting Coach Hinkley told the men that friendship and entire co-operation with the freshman players was wanted.

He said that the important thing was not winning the letter, but the formation of the team and that one's self must be repressed for the benefit of the whole. He spoke of the increased football facilities, and the greater opportunity for individual observation and coaching. The importance of good scholastic standing was dwelt upon and special consideration promised to those possessing it.

Both Coach Hinkley and Judge Robert Munger '17, who presided, spoke of the fact that a college is judged to a certain degree by its athletics and thus urged the responsibility of a team to its university.

The first call for Varsity and Freshman crew candidates will be issued on Monday, and all men should report in the rowing room of the gymnasium. Men who rowed during the last season should consult the list of names to be printed in the Princetonian of that date, specifying time to report.

Work will proceed continuously on the indoor machines until Lake Carnegie is sufficiently cleared of ice as to warrant the launching of shells. Daily practice will not be compulsory during the mid-year examinations, but candidates are advised to give as much attention to this fundamental work as possible. Its value cannot be overestimated both in teaching men the real art of blade work, and in developing the endurance.

Indoor practice is going on at several colleges which Princeton will meet this spring. At Cornell, Coach Courtney sent the men to the machines before Christmas vacation, after one of the longest outdoor fall seasons which he has yet known. Columbia has been active for some time, while Coach Nichols will issue the call for oarsmen at Pennsylvania on January 11, the day on which Princeton will begin work. Sixteen rowing machines have been fired up, and indoor work will continue until warmer weather permits practice on the Schuylkill river.

Fourteen men answered the first call for Varsity battery candidates at the University of Pennsylvania last Monday. Koons, Madden, Valiant and Winner, all members of last year's nine, reported.

Hockey Notice

This afternoon at 5 p.m. in the Music Room in the Union, will be held an important meeting of Class Hockey Representatives.

R.V.C. Seniors Shape Up Well

First Practice of the Year Held Yesterday—Successful Work Done

Yesterday, at 2:00 p.m. sharp, Capt. L. DeMuth lined up his senior hockey team on the R. V. C. rink for the first practice of the season. The ice was a bit soft, but nevertheless creditable work was shown. The seniors exhibit some splendid material. Owing to the size of the rink, a five-man team is necessary. Miss DeMuth shows up well as centre, and her swift stroke is a splendid asset. Miss Macdonald and Miss Story are rounding into form for nice passing in wing positions. Both are fairly swift on the steels, but need a lot of practice in carrying the puck. Miss Bennett bids fair to prove a dexterous point, and put up some good defence work. Miss McCaw exhibits quite remarkable stopping propensities between the posts, and is swift and sure.

More valuable material will doubtless be on hand at the next work-out, and with a little coaching, the seniors are sure to shine.

Universities Will Not Row Historic Race

Oxford and Cambridge Cancelled Race This Year for First Time Since Crimean War

London, Jan. 14. — It is officially announced here to-night that no university boat race will be rowed this year. For the first time since the Crimean war, the race was hardly possible this year, for all the leading oarsmen at both Oxford and Cambridge have gone to the front, or have joined forces in training.

Athletic News

Hockey is to be made much faster by the rule adopted that "no player can be checked who is not actually playing the puck." This rule was adopted at the meeting of the executive committee of the Amateur Hockey League during vacation. Hockey should be a much improved game with a premium put on skating and stick work and with body checking football tactics and the "set even" spirit well out of the play.

The Harvard Club of Boston squash racquet team maintained its lead in the intercollegiate tournament of the Massachusetts Squash Racquet Association Saturday, by defeating the Boston Athletic Association four straight matches.

Pennsylvania was formally declared the champion soccer team for 1914, in accordance with the following official standing at the end of the fall series:

Pennsylvania	5	1	1
Harvard	3	1	2
Cornell	1	4	6
Columbia	2	3	5
Princeton	1	2	3
Yale	1	3	2
Haverford	1	4	1

It was announced yesterday that in all probability Dartmouth and Brown Universities will resume athletic relations which were broken off in 1908 after an interrupted baseball game. It is not likely, however, that a football game will be arranged for next fall.

There is a project on foot among the Dartmouth Alumni to build a stadium in Boston. Until two years ago the large guarantee which Harvard paid for the use of the stadium to finance the latter's athletics, but since the break in relations Dartmouth has had a hard time meeting her expenses.

Dartmouth's biggest game, the one with Princeton, came in the middle of October, and does not draw a large crowd, comparatively speaking, while the game with Pennsylvania is much more satisfactory in a financial sense. The Boston public always turns out well for the best offerings on the Harvard schedule and is more appreciative of good football than probably any other city. Thus the project seems feasible financially, but it is extremely doubtful if the faculty would permit the students to be willing for the football team to be moved to Boston.

Nevertheless, Harvard is unable to provide a big enough attendance to better conditions and the situation must be altered somehow.

Philadelphia, Jan. 11.—According to a statement of the Amateur Athletic Union, the Amateur Athletic Union of Pennsylvania, which is a mile distance, can pick up runner William L. DeMuth to represent Pennsylvania in open games. Meredith is registered as a member of the Meadow Brook Club in the Middle Atlantic Association and control complete for Pennsylvania at the Boston games next month, or in any other set of games held by the A.A.U. So far as the college races are concerned, Tedd can wear a red and blue without question.

On its Christmas trip the Yale basketball team won four of the five games played, being defeated by the Catholic University nine at Washington, D.C.

During the holidays the Yale hockey team defeated St. Paul's 6-2; Mass. A.C.S. 5-2; but lost to the Crescent A.C. by the score of 6 to 5.

BOXING AND WRESTLING CLUB WILL HOLD FIRST SMOKER IN UNION TO-MORROW NIGHT

Joe Donnelly Will Meet a Well-known City Heavyweight in Feature Bout of Night—Jeffries and Others Made Debut

Final details in connection with the smoker to be held at the Union to-morrow evening, have been arranged by the executive of the boxing, wrestling and fencing club. A most interesting card of events has been prepared and everything done to assure the success of the meet. Several features are promised by the executive, one of which will be the inauguration of a relay system of wrestling bouts, in the 125lb. class. In this Coach Smith is applying Billy Armstrong's system of relay boxing to wrestling. Those who will take part in this novel event are Read, Banfield and McCully.

Another feature of the evening's entertainment will be the appearance on the mat and in the ring of several well known football players, a number of whom are making their initial appearance at the game. Jeffries, will take part in both boxing and wrestling as well as Routhwaite, Parsons, Matthews, MacDonald and Kelly, Joe Donnelly, the star of the 1913 champions, will also be seen in the heavyweight boxing class, meeting some well-known city heavyweight, Charlie McCarthy, boxing instructor, on hand and may possibly be induced to enter the ring and give an exhibition.

The full programme is as follows: Relay wrestling—Read, Banfield and McCully, 125lb. class.

Heavyweight wrestling, Brown and Routhwaite.

115lb. class wrestling, Cassidy and L. Parsons.

125lb. class wrestling, Jeffries and Johnson.

155lb. wrestling, Parsons and Kemp.

125lb. class wrestling, Myerson and MacDonald.

145lb. wrestling, Kelly and Armitage.

155lb. class, Jeffries and Crombie.

155lb. class, Newhook and Falls.

One bout also from M.A.A.A. representatives.

The clash in the wrestling between Kelly and Armitage is bound to arouse interest, as both men have made strides in the mat game and can be depended upon to give a fine exhibition.

The fact that free smokes will be provided and that instrumental music and singing will alternate with the wrestling, boxing, and programme, should also prove a decided factor in bringing about a good attendance at an entertainment which is bound to rank as one of the best at McGill in years.

Dr. Harvey will be at the Union at 5:45 this afternoon to examine all class hockey players and also those who wish to take part in to-morrow evening's smoker, and who have not been previously examined this year.

WRESTLERS HAVE GOOD WORK OUT IN THE RULES OF WATER POLO

Men Are Preparing Hard for Friday Night's Smoker

PROGRAMME IS GIVEN
Jeffries Turns Out For the First Time Last Night

Last night, the Wrestling Club had a good work-out. There were thirteen men out and all the bouts were extremely well-contested. Coach Smith did not teach any new holds during the practice, but commented himself with making the men use the present ones and learn them thoroughly. He kept them at it hard and fast throughout the time, and in his last practice before Friday night's smoker, the wrestlers showed that they are in pretty good condition.

Some minor bruises and cuts were the casualties for the night, but no accident happened which was serious enough to effect the men in any way.

Final preparations were made for the grand event on Friday, the details of which are being reported.

The practice as a whole was keen and the men showed a marked improvement with each work out. Jeffries of the football team, was out for the first time, and showed some ability in the 135lb. class.

ward schedule and is more appreciative of good football than probably any other city. Thus the project seems feasible financially, but it is extremely doubtful if the faculty would permit the students to be willing for the football team to be moved to Boston.

Nevertheless, Harvard is unable to provide a big enough attendance to better conditions and the situation must be altered somehow.

PLAN CHANGES IN THE RULES OF WATER POLO

The Changes Suggested Relate to Technical Fouls

POLO NOT HARD GAME

Thought That Many Colleges Will Agree to These Changes

A plan to make uniform rules for water polo as it is played at present throughout the country was advanced by Mr. F. W. Leuhning, of Princeton, at a recent meeting of the National Collegiate A.A., held in Chicago. Water polo is played at but five colleges in the East, though a water basketball, which is similar to water polo is played in the west.

The convention recognized water polo as an intercollegiate sport, but referred the proposed rules to the Committee on Swimming in order that the Western members might have an opportunity to consider them and suggest changes. This committee is composed of Dr. R. T. Mackenzie of Pennsylvania, chairman; F. W. Leuhning, of Princeton; Dr. Reed, of Chicago, and Paul Worthington, of Harvard.

CHANGES IN RULES.

The changes suggested relate for the most part, to personal and technical fouls, the penalty for the former being a free throw from the thirty-foot mark with the goal unguarded, and the penalty for the latter being a free throw from the fifteen-foot mark also with the goal unguarded.

The rules in addition, aim to do away with indiscriminate tackling, making it a foul to tackle any man except the one with the ball or a man who has just lost possession of it. It is thought that Chicago, Illinois, and probably Wisconsin will agree to these changes.

The swimming rules were left unchanged, except that the back stroke and breast stroke were recognized.

In regard to making water polo more uniform throughout the entire country, Mr. Frank Sullivan, Director of Swimming, made the following statement:

"That water polo is popular in the East goes without saying, for it is a known fact that should the personal contact game be eliminated from the Eastern Intercollegiate programme, at least Dartmouth and Williams have engaged at football since the early '30's. The basis for the elimination of the game next fall according to Williams, lies in the fact that the Purple, with such big college athletes as the Purple, Cornell and Princeton on her schedule feels that it must be lightened. However, there is nothing permanent in the agreement and it is likely that the resumption of the annual game will be in order in 1916.

The Ottawa Aberdeens, after their game with Ottawa College, last night, where they will play on Saturday night. This will be the first of a series of four games to be played away from home. On Monday night the Aberdeens will meet the fast Queen's intercollegiate in hockey. On Tuesday night they go up against the aggregation representing Perth.

The Aberdeens this year are a very fast and well-balanced team, and should have no difficulty in making their opponents go the limit to beat them out.

Wesleyan University defeated New Hampshire State College at basketball Saturday, 37 points to 10.

Cornell University defeated the University of Pennsylvania Saturday, in their intercollegiate Basketball League game, 28 points to 25.

War Summary

Specially Written for the McGill Daily

FRANCE.
The fighting between Soissons and Laon is still very fierce. The advance of the Allies on Laon still progressing, but being met with a determined resistance by the enemy. In this region work against the batteries of the German artillery.

On the North Western theatre of war the Allies are still victorious. The French artillery did great damage to the German earthworks and trenches, particularly in the region of Ypres and Neuport.

The news concerning the French still very favorable, and the French official statement of Jan. 13 shows that, though the fighting in this region is very heavy, and the Germans have brought forward large reserves, the French are still in possession of the hills to the south of the Somme. The French were obliged to retire slightly on the east.

RUSSIA.

The Russians are expecting a new attack on another point in their line, and are reinforcing their entire line from the extreme north to the Pileva River. If the Russians are successful in holding the Germans in check for the next few weeks, the latter will have to abandon the offensive in Poland until next summer. By the middle of March the rains set in, flooding the entire country, and in this way making all military operations impossible.

ENGLAND.

Although no official mention has been made, there is a persistent report in England that two German submarines were sunk while attacking Dover harbor. They are reported to have been fired upon by land forces. For the last few days we have been getting disquieting rumours of air craft over the Channel and Channel towns.

ITALY.

Italy seems to be on the brink of entering the war. This is shown by the fact that the German army has been closing up their business connections in Italy, and returning to Germany.

GENERAL.

The prevailing opinion in London seems to be that the turning point in the war is close at hand. The war is holding up any important changes which might transpire in better weather conditions. There is a heavy epidemic of typhoid in the German line which is only held in check by the cold weather.

Arts Classes Work-out on Campus Rink

Classes of Arts '17 and Arts '18 Prepare for Class Series.

At their practice hours yesterday afternoon, Arts '17, and Arts '18, both had fairly good turn-outs, in preparation for the coming matches. The former had the ice first and put in a good hour and a half. The men are getting down to work on combination and Aird, Cassidy and Ritchie appear to be the three best men to form the forward line. Shooting is still the weak point of most of the players, the men being unable to stand a strong chance for the championship of the Arts faculty. Captain Clark was on hand and the players are showing a marked improvement in their team play, as a result of his coaching. There is a team that will stand a strong chance for the championship of the Arts faculty. The two defenses found some difficulty in dealing in concert, effectively with the fast forward combination, and need more practice yet to earn places on the team.

On the whole, however, the men are improving with every date. The following are out, Keir, D. H. Harris, "Pat" Allan, Viner, Mackay, Aird, Cassidy, Ritchie, Dobson, S. Allan, MacDermott.

The Arts Presmen held a fast work-out yesterday afternoon, and judging from the way the men are rounding into shape, there is going to be a team that will stand a strong chance for the championship of the Arts faculty. WESLEYAN STUDENT MEETS ADVENTURE DURING HOLIDAYS

Sentry Takes Theolog for German Spy and Arrests Him

One of the students at the Wesleyan Theological College met with a most interesting experience during his Christmas vacation. He was spending a few days with friends at Iroquois, Ontario, arrived at this pretty town with a gentleman companion in the wee small hours. The town would be a stroll around the town would be pleasant and sauntered along the river bank until they reached the canal locks, where a guard chosen from the 56th Militia, was stationed. Afterward they retraced their steps and registered at the hotel. His friend being then rather fatigued, Mr. Bowring, by himself, took another walk around the town and quite by accident came to the same place on the locks where he and his friend had been in the morning. It would appear that the sentry who was stationed at the locks had reported the mysterious appearance of two strangers at the very early hour and had received orders, should they make a reappearance to place them under arrest. Most fortunately for the Wesleyan, he happened to be well known to the Presbyterian minister of the town, who saved the unpleasant incident from proceeding any further. When Mr. Bowring came back and related the incident his fellow-students enjoyed the joke immensely.

Most of the theologs were a little envious of the affair and wished that they had passed through a similar experience; the notoriety which comes from being taken for a German spy is a pleasure one does not experience every day.

Lieut. Cortlandt Graham Gordon MacKenzie has been killed in action in Belgium. He belonged to the 2nd Battalion, Royal Scots, and was a member of an old Montreal family.

He was the second son of J. Gordon MacKenzie, a well-known lawyer, and a grandson of the late Gordon MacKenzie, who retired from the firm of J. G. MacKenzie & Co., in 1886, and died later in England.

Lieut. MacKenzie was educated at the University of Toronto, and received his commission in the Royal Scots Fusiliers in 1911. His battalion was in Gibraltar when war was declared and he had to stand in action until October 12th.

The adjutant writing from an English hospital of Lieutenant MacKenzie's death, dwells on the conspicuous bravery shown by him, on three occasions. Once he led a charge and cleared a wood of a greatly superior number of Germans, when he was wounded in three places. On another occasion he led a charge and retook a trench from which another company of his regiment had been driven. On the day of his death he, with his platoon, held his trench, when the rest of his regiment had been forced to retire.

Lieut. Cortlandt Graham Gordon MacKenzie graduated from the Royal Military College, Kingston, in the class of 1913, and was given a commission, on graduation, in the Royal Scots Fusiliers, stationed at Gibraltar. As a cadet he made many friends in the City of Kingston, and was well liked by his fellow cadets, and the officer of the staff of the college. He was quiet in manner, determined in purpose, and was never known to shrink from any duty imposed upon him during his college days on Navy Bay.

Eric Greenwood, of Toronto, second lieutenant in the Royal Engineers, has been wounded while serving the war. His name appears in the list of casualties issued by the War Office in London.

Lieut. Greenwood, when he was graduated from the Royal Military College in the spring of 1913, won the sword of honor and silver medal. He is the older of two brothers and was on duty at Cantham, England, when war broke out. He accompanied the first expeditionary force to France. His brother, Harold, had not yet completed his course at Kingston, but was sent over to Britain to take a commission, and may by this time have been sent to the front.

Their father, Lieut.-Col. H. S. Greenwood, a civil engineer who has been with the Mackenzie-Mann interests and who was himself graduated from the R.M.C. in 1882, is now in London, having placed himself at the service of the War Office. He commanded the 2nd (Canadian) Dragoons in 1899 and saw service in South Africa with C.M.R. and also service in the Natal native rebellion in 1906.

A few days ago a negro entered a hardware store and asked to see some razors. The clerk showed him some safety razors, which he looked at with rather a critical glance, finally saying:

"Boss, dis am not the kind of razor I want. I desires one atreky for social purposes."—National Monthly.

RICH PICKING.
The British naval officer was on his way to the bank with several bags of prize money.

"Hello," exclaimed a friend, "what have you there?"

"There," replied the Britisher, "are the fortunes of war that you've so often read of."

Mabel: "How are you getting on at college, Perry?"

Perry: "Oh, all right. I'm trying awfully hard to get ahead, you know."

Mabel: "Well, heaven knows you needn't judge."

"I heard them stumble down the air like scorpions betrayed; God must have heard their broken prayer."

That made my heart afraid. The Termonde bells are gone, are gone. And what is left to say? Fare forth we must, by bitter dawn. To try to find the way.

They used to call the children To go to sleep at night; And their songs were tender And drowsy with delight.

The wind will look for them in vain Within the empty tower. We shall not hear them sing again At dawn or twilight hour. It's forth we must, away, away, And far from Termonde town. But this is all I know to-day. The chimera, the chimera are down!

They used to ring at evening To help the people pray, Who wander now bewildered And cannot find the way.

FOR WEEK-END PARTIES.
The old-fashioned razor is a recognized weapon of offense and defense in the States. In fact to such an extent that many States have passed laws prohibiting the carrying of weapons.

GRAND CHALLENGE CUP EXHIBITED BY HARVARD OARSMEN Won by Americans for First Time Since Competed for—Donated in 1839

The Harvard Club, of New York, had a real celebration of the Crimson's success on the gridiron and the victory of the oarsmen in the Henley Regatta last summer. Saturday night, the largest crowd of New York football fans gathered at the Regatta Club, for the exhibition of the grand challenge cup, the highest prize in the world's rowing trophies, which has been in competition since 1839, and is now in this country for the first time as a result of Harvard's triumph in England.

Several speakers told of the Henley victory, while the football situation was expounded by P. D. Haughton, the Harvard coach, who showed lantern slides of Harvard-Yale football games since 1907. E. J. Wendell, '22, for the New York Harvard alumni, presented a loving cup to Mr. Haughton and also to H. H. Herriek, '20, who was in charge of the crew which won the regatta at Henley.
